JOHN ENDICOTT WAS A RIGHTEOUS MAN AND WHEN HE WAS MADE GOVERNOR OF THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY COMPANY HE PROCEEDED TO MAKE DRASIC LAWS AGAINST ALL PLEASURES AND SPORTS WE CONSIDERED WERE UNGODLY.

THE FORCE OF ENDICOTT'S LAWS WAS FELT NOT ONLY IN SALEM BUT IN THE NEARBY SETTLEMENTS. ACROSS THE BAY WAS THE TRADING POST OF A MAN NAMED MORTON, CALLED MERRY MOUNT, WHERE GUNS AND GUNPOWDER WERE SOLD TO THE SAVAGES AND THE SETTLERS DANCED WITH INDIAN GIRLS AROUND A MAYPOLE.

ONE DAY THE FIERY OLD GOVERNOR CROSSED THE BAY TO MERRY MOUNT, CUT DOWN THE MAYPOLE, AND DROVE MORTON INTO EXILE.

TO EXTEND THE COLONY, GOV. ENDICOTT EXPLORED THE COAST OF NEW ENGLAND AND LAID OUT SITE FOR A TOWN TO THE SOUTH OF SALEM WHICH HE NAMED CHARLESTOWN.

ENDICOTT WAS LOYAL TO THE KING BUT HIS HATRED OF THE KING OF ENGLAND LED HIM TO CUT OUT THE CROSS FROM THE ENGLISH FLAG. FOR THIS ACT HE WAS REBUINED BUT MENCEPHTH THE CROSS WAS LEFT OUT OF THE NEW ENGLAND FLAG.

MIDWEST JOINS TO HONOR DEAD

Sabbath Spent in Prayer by Storm Survivors

Simplicity Marks Services for Tornado Victims

Creeds Forgotten as Cities Bow in Common Grief

Food, medicine and medical supplies are adequate for the time being with new consignments arriving daily.

Mass funeral services were held during the day for the victims of De Soto, Gorham, Parris, West Frankfort and Murphysboro. Rude graves were filled with pine boxes containing the dead.

The work of the stricken districts still continues. Streams of refugees crowded the roads to day-leading to Duquoin, Benton, Carbondale, Herrin and other towns which lie beyond the circle of the storm. Homes in the cities have been thrown open to the refugees.

CURIOS BARRED

It is a dreary, disconsolate march. Every sort of vehicle has been drafted into use and piled high with whatever belongings were salvaged from the ruins. Some rods away in automobiles or what remained of them; others left in wagons and many trudged along with their bundles thrown over their shoulders.

Dozens of mobile hospitals were blocked and turned back by police and soldiers.

The Red Cross officials generally are highly pleased with the immediate results of their work but due to the great extent of the damage done and the large number of people without possible means of support for weeks, there is great need for continued assistance. In order to keep up to the time reveals the country districts have to be gone over again to check for farmers who have been left homeless and without means of support. It is believed that a great number of farmers have leveled their cattle scattered or killed, farm machinery scattered and homes torn from foundations. To these people relief sites will have to be given until such time as they can rehabilitate their property.

Avocados Are Being Stolen for Markets

The California Avocado Growers' Association has issued a warning to dealers against stolen avocados which are being offered in the market in considerable quantity, according to the association. About 20,000 pounds of stolen avocados have been taken from the fields. Thieves have been arrested, and five dealers have lost fruit and the money they paid for it. The avocados are stolen before they are ripe, and are unsuitable for food, medicine and fertilizer. The association asks dealers not to buy avocados from persons not known and to report to the association any suspicious offerings of fruit.

PRINCETON HONOR LIST SHOWS SIZE

One-fifth of Student Body Included; Two Angelinos Win Awards

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PRINCETON (N. J.) March 22. Virtually one-fifth of the undergraduate body at Princeton is included in the honor list just given out by the secretary's office here.

The proportion of high honors and honors in the senior class is unusually high, since one man in every three is mentioned, with twenty-eight in the first group and 125 in the second. The junior class had the next highest record with twenty-first-groupers and eight-nine second-groupers. Nine sophomores received high honors, and seventy-five got general honors.

Only seven freshmen are in the honor group and fifty-four in the second.

Twenty-five of the men come from New York City and the surrounding district. Among those mentioned in the list are many with numerous extra-curricular activities. Three members of the varsity football team, the captain of the 150-pound varsity crew, the chairman and managing editor of the "Princetonian," the captain of various clubs, managers of swimming, wrestling, and the rifle team, and others received either first or second honors.

Among those honored were Gerald B. Hamilton and Frank B. Conner, both of Los Angeles.

Indiana Relief Goes On; Police Bar Sightseers

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

PRINCETON (Ind.) March 22. Reinforced military lines held back thousands of motorists who sought to visit the tornado-swept area in Southern Indiana today, while the work of rehabilitation is relieved.

Although the death list for Friday has increased to 100, the remains of the dead have been recovered. The burin of the dead, which continued today and it is believed will have been completed by nightfall. Gov. Jackson visited the storm-torn area today. He will determine and return to Indianapolis, whether a special session of the Legislature is necessary to provide aid from the State.

GEN. MITCHELL'S CONTENTION

What then—omitting the fire-works—is Gen. Mitchell's contention?

He holds, to begin with, that the greatest future danger to our scheme of national defense is air power. He believes that when planes now made by all the countries are worked out, air attacks present more danger than attack by either land or sea. He maintains that every form of surviving craft is in process of being rendered obsolete by the air bomb.

As the Army fights on land and the Navy on sea, the airplane fights still another way. Its techniques and tactics are quite different from those of the Army and Navy that an air force cannot be worked out to full efficiency unless it is organized as a whole, and by experts who understand the game. Hence, what we need is a separate air service, under a new department of the Cabinet. As I have said, Gen. now Col. Mitchell was chosen to represent this view. Probably most of our airmen agree with Mitchell, though consideration for military etiquette and, perhaps, fear of their jobs keep the members of the Regular Army and Navy—differ with Mitchell on every point. Though the airplane, they say, has revolutionized tactics, it remains to be seen if the first line of defense, the Navy, the battleship is still the undefeated heavyweight champion. The air bomb is a new enemy, but not a dangerous one. On the other hand, the still the keepers of the fort. You cannot beat an enemy unless you occupy his territory; and how can you do that with aircraft?

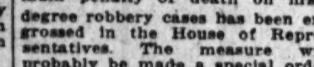

Such being the case, an independent air force would merely complicate matters. What we need, in both Army and Navy, is an aerial arm skill not only in flying but in Army or Navy tactics; an integral part of the service.

Since by the way, dissenters to the point of believing that airplane bombs have an edge on surface craft and that the battleship is doomed; but he opposed the united, independent air force.

The bill changes the present statute, which provides a penalty of not more than five years in first-degree robbery cases, to 20 years.

It is thought that little opposition will be given the measure on final passage or in the Senate.

GLENNA COLLETT,
PROBABLY THE LONGEST
DRIVER AMONG THE
WOMEN GOLFERS

CHARLEY PANDOCH
DROVE 350 YDS.

The wallop is the thing, and those who "sock the old apple" are the popular heroes, no matter whether the game is baseball, tennis or golf. For years the crowds at the championships have followed the Egans, the Guilfers, the Macdonalds, the Hagens, and the Tollers, because they like to see them lay into the little ball with all their might and the distance—there is nothing so appealing as "the Power of the Punch."

Glenna Collett is probably the longest—or at any rate one of the longest drivers among the women golfers. Several times in the past she has actually driven a golf ball the incredible distance of 287 yards. Glenna has plenty of power behind her drives, but rhythm and correct timing are really the secret of her success. Miss Collett is going to England this year to try to win the British women's championship.

Abe Mitchell has for years been known as one of the longest drivers in the world. He is a tall and silent man, and it is hard to measure, but his long range gives him great advantage over his rivals.

Abe won a recent driving contest in Texas, averaging 207 yards on three drives, his longest being 212 yards. It is seldom that a driving contest is won with a mark of over 200 yards.

Miss Collett and one of the veteran golfers who have played remarkable golf for years, have an open on an open championship. She has a very short follow-through, and does not use any overlapping or interlocking grip.

Charley Pandoch, world's champion sprinter and amateur golfer extraordinary, once socked a beautiful drive of 250 yards at the Pasadena Country Club. The record was not accepted by the A.A.U., however.

regard in which they held their opponents.

When Winckel equalized, ten minutes later, both teams settled down to hard work, with the center of the field being the attack. Andy Davidson, Bobby Robertson and Billy Downe were thrusful and giving Karl Mortenson and Watz considerable trouble. The excellent defense of these two players, along with the goal tending of Zyker, the Vikings owe their defeat being less lop-sided. Shortly before the half ended, Billy Downe again gave his side a lead with a goal which was almost the duplicate of his teammate. Thus the period ended.

As the second forty-five progressed, the Vikings paralleled and pace had been too fast for them, and they evidently did not possess the staying powers of their opponents. Their raids were sporadic and lacked punch, while the Vikings had only a steady, slow swing at a high fast one and you still have a chance to get the man going into second. Such a swing will be made only to bother you. Now the Vikings will be done, even if he does continue. The rap will probably be only a high fly or foul, in which the steal is broken up anyhow.

UNWISE THING

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—

The University of California Tennis Club defeated the Sutter Lawn Tennis Club here today, 7 to 2. Sperry, local high school star, was the outstanding feature of the match, breaking the meet record in that event when they ran it in 3:22.10.

Patton of Riverside was highest point man with 11 points to his credit. Five meet records other than the relay were broken. Carman scored an excellent shot, dribbling through the backs and slipping the leather past Zyker.

Hollywood Athletic Club had a hard day against the San Pedro Scots, winning 8 to 6.

DENTAL COLLEGE IN

WIN OVER SAGEHEN'S

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

POMONA COLLEGE (Claremont) March 22.—Getting away to fast start that netted them five runs in the first inning, the University of Southern California Dental College baseball team defeated Pomona College, 6 to 2 in a practice game played here yesterday. The Dentists crashed out three hits for five of their runs in the first inning. Pomona's errors gave them the extra runs. The Sagehens got both their runs in the seventh inning. Holtinger, the man of the meet, was as consistent in hot water. He was saved from a worse heating by three double plays. The score:

R. H. E.

U.S.C. Dental 6-2

Pomona 2-6

Batters—Dentists, Riddle and Pettigrew; Pomona, Holtzinger and Packard.

Meet Monarch Squad in Clash at Palais de Glace
This Evening

Having corrected the glaring weaknesses apparent in the game with the Monarchs last Monday, Capt. Tom Howard of the Los Angeles Athletic Club hockey team will lead his stick wielders against the Hollywood Athletic Club sextet tonight at 9:30 at the Palais de Glace.

A process of reorganization which the L.A.A.C. team was undergoing at that time was mainly responsible for the club's poor showing last week. Several new faces were seen in the line-up and there was a marked lack of teamwork which has been overcome by strenuous practice during the last few days.

Hollywood's decisive win over the flashy Monarchs Thursday night placed the Foothillers firmly in first place by a comfortable margin. McCusker, Oakley and Gaudin of Hollywood have become a tower of strength which the opposition seems unable to break down.

A big gap in the line-up of the L.A.A.C. team will be filled with the appointment of a new goal tender who is to be selected from a long list of aspirants by Capt. Howard Jones, star wing man, and Mulligan will be his assistant.

Reference to Cook, late of the Canadian League, will again handle the decisions. Exhibitions of fancy and trick skating will be given by the Monarchs.

Americans Agree on Need of Preserving Wild Life

Migratory Bird Treaty Soon to be Negotiated

Canada and Mexico to Join United States Move

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, March 22.—It has been known for some time that the Washington and Ottawa governments have been in communication with the Mexican authorities regarding the possibility of a reciprocally protective treaty regarding migratory birds, fishes, fauna and the like. It is now stated authoritatively, although not officially, that by the end of the year some such pact in all probability will have been an accomplished fact.

It is understood that only a few days ago the Mexican Department of Agriculture and Public Development received a definite proposal to the effect mentioned from both the United States and Canadian governments, which, if it materializes, will take the form of a three-cornered treaty, under which the protection of migratory birds in particular will receive greater importance. Mexico is taking the matter seriously, for an exhaustive study is already under way of all such similar treaties as exist in Europe. There are a number of them in force between the governments of Central European countries.

PARADE OF BIRDS

The importance of the protection of birds in Mexico is plain from the fact that her climate is ideal for the wintering of birds. A great number of birds, mostly aquatic, seek refuge in the central and southern portions of Mexico where the climate is mild, the birds finding shelter in the rivers of the winter north of the Mexican border. These find comfortable, but temporary, homes on the hundreds of Mexican small rivers and lakes. Many more visitors come from the equatorial regions to avoid the excessive summer heat and to enjoy the temperate climate of Mexico.

There is a reciprocal importance to the United States in this now understood to be under consideration, and that is that all the birds which come south for warmer weather return to the United States during the spring and summer to populate and beautify the lakes and rivers there. Texas Youth Appeals to Filling Station Men to Kill Reptile

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) March 22.—When Ernest Hudson, Temple, Tex., a high-school youth, drove his car into a filling station and yelled for someone to kill the snake on the running gear the attendants made the usual excuse for his actions. But Hudson was persistent. And when a look was taken a five-foot chicken snake clinging to the frame made matters different. The snake was soon killed. Hudson explained that the reptile attached itself to his car while out in the country and he could not get rid of it without bringing it to town.

tection of these birds as nothing less than duty to civilization.

The protection of fishes along the coasts of Mexico, United States and Canada is said to be of no lesser importance. It is known that that of the Mexican fisherman, Comisión de Pesca, fishing which has been going on is enormous, and has not been restricted to fish alone, but also to pearls. A reciprocal treaty in this regard is being considered.

SEES END OF SPORT

A well-known authority stated recently that the day when the United States would be a target of the past within ten years unless some steps were taken to protect the game from the ruthless slaughter of the "6,000,000 guns" of the American market.

It is an undisputed fact that nine-tenths of the ducks of the Canadian and United States lakes come to Mexico during the northern winter, and each country has a vital interest in protecting them as far as possible.

Another point significant from the United States point of view is that a concession recently has been granted by an American citizen to a club from Mexico to a proposed farm in Texas 35,000 quail to replace the shortage of that species north of the Rio Grande.

Tenement Beds Found on Fire; Five Arrested

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PITTSBURG, March 22.—Discovery by firemen of a blaze in every bed in a large three-story brick tenement at 8 Hamilton Place, here, led to the arrest of five negroes living in the house.

Responding to an alarm, Assistant Chief Daniel Jones found a davenport on the first floor on fire, while a large crowd of negroes were rushing through an adjoining court crying that the upper floors were burning.

Firemen found six beds ablaze, broken furniture and the building were unharmed. The fire was quickly extinguished. The damage is estimated at $200. The men under arrest gave no explanation of the peculiar fire.

NEGRO MAY BE MADE HALL OF FAME MEMBER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 22.—A movement has been launched to make Frederick Douglass, negro antislavery orator, a member of the Hall of Fame. His name has been placed in nomination and will receive consideration this year at the deliberations of the directors in June. This action is taken not to honor the negro race, but to honor the achievements of Douglass as a representative American citizen. Douglass was born in 1817 at Tuckerton, N.J. He was raised as a slave working in the shipyards of Baltimore until he escaped in 1838 and came to New York City. He first attracted attention as an orator in 1841 when, in 1841, he addressed a convention at Nantucket in behalf of a movement to free the southern slaves.

RUSH TO ENROLL IN BOB SCHOOLS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, March 22.—Schools which teach bobbing and shilling have mushroomed throughout the continent and in England, despite the recent edict that the bob is a thing of the past. Many schools, to give the "pupils" sufficient practice, have free bobbing sessions. The candidates are turned away, so great is the desire to be hair dressers.

Experts with the wanderlust are moving from country to country as they are sure of finding work, because a skilled bobber or shillier is in great demand.

vision Jeopardizes Deal Security Pact small Group is Opposed to Joining League

BY JOHN CLAYTON
1933 EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
BERLIN, March 22.—Negotiations for a security pact on which Germany is depending to insure European peace has been jeopardized by the attitude of a small, but noisy, group of nationalists, who are demanding that Foreign Minister Stremann resign from his position of minister of the western frontier in perpetuity.

Today a momentous demonstration against the present government was held in Berlin. The leaders of the Nationalists, who are in the present government, demanded that the Foreign Minister, Herr Stremann, be replaced by another. The meeting, which was held in the great palace, was ostensibly a meeting in support of Carl Jarres, "Steel" himself, who has been paraded through the streets of Berlin in white and black flags. No one can tell how much of the noise made by the Nationalists was due to home consumption, and how much is a protest against Herr Stremann's negotiations with the Allies. The number of the workers who are hard to determine. The leaders of the Nationalists spent the first day in conference with Chancellor Stremann to find out under which conditions he would resign. It is the Cabinet after the resignation of yesterday, which has been demanded that Herr Stremann's proposal to guard the western frontier be rejected.

During these conferences it was agreed that the Nationalists would not be more than they intended—carried, perhaps, by their own enthusiasm, and would not make any demands for Dr. Jan Smuts. The Nationalists are asking the Foreign Minister to resign tonight whether it will be to join the opposition, or to join the League of Nations, or to offer sufficient advantages to keep them in line.

The Nationalists are unalterably opposed to the entrance of Germany into the League of Nations, and base their refusal on the fact that they would be bound by the obligations necessary under Article X and Article XI of the League, which might bring them against the Allies in a war with a power that Germany is friendly.

After the meeting, Herr Stremann and Herr Jarres, who is the leader of the Nationalists, left the room together with them to give up the idea of reconquering Alsace and Lorraine and telling them it is the only way to peace. Nothing can be done unless some sort of guarantees with France and with the Allies are given. Herr Luther insisted. Dr. Jan Smuts has been asked whether they will let the League of Nations live or if it will break with the minority, thus placing the minority.

The AMPICO

THE ALL OF THE PIANO

YOUR HOME IS A STAGE
The Ampico your Performer

With the AMPICO your home becomes a constantly changing scene of entertainment—it transports great Artists to your drawing room with an inexhaustible store of music.

Let us picture your home with the AMPICO and take you through a few scenes with this miraculous instrument the stage is set—the AMPICO stands beautiful and inviting Scene I.

In Your Drawing Room

A button is touched. The music begins. It is Rachmaninoff playing his own immortal Prelude. Majestic and soul stirring measures fill the room . . . the great giant of the keyboard is inspired. Such an interpretation with its crashing splendor and stately chords! Only the genius of Rachmaninoff can give that authoritative performance.

Next we hear Lhevinne reveal the poetry of a Chopin Nocturne—followed by Moisewitsch with his gorgeous impressionism—and by Rosenthal, one of the greatest technical masters in the world.

The AMPICO pours forth the living, breathing personalities of these great Artists—every shade of feeling, every delicate phrasing is re-enacted.

Scene II.

In Your Drawing Room

A heart song next. Mischa Levitzki plays Annie Laurie. He expresses it with all its poetic beauty, for he loves and appreciates its tender melody just as we do.

Next Victor Herbert gives us many of our favorite ballads from his operettas, including "Mlle. Modiste," "Babes in Toyland"—and "Mother Machree" is played by Corrine De Bon, and we hear "Little Grey Home in the West" played by Eastwood Lane.

What joy it brings to our hearts to hear these old familiar songs of long ago—what memories are awakened in us! They take us back to half-forgotten scenes and make us young again.

Scene III.

In Your Drawing Room

Now there enters a member of the family who plays the violin. A brilliant accompaniment is played by Carl Lamson, the noted accompanist for Fritz Kreisler.

Next a friend who has dropped in for the occasion, and who possesses a lovely soprano voice, sings "Ave Maria." A glorious accompaniment is given by Richard Hageman, renowned Conductor of the Metropolitan Opera Company for thirteen seasons, who accompanies all the great singers of that institution. This scene is ended by Richard Strauss playing accompaniments for many of his delightful songs.

Scene IV.

In Your Drawing Room

Suddenly the atmosphere seems to be charged with a magical current. The room is filled with the tantalizing, syncopated strains of "All Alone". It is Vincent Lopez playing with all his irresistible rhythm, his swing and enthusiasm. We forget all else save the tuneful, exhilarating cadences that seem to lift us from our chairs and out upon the floor.

We thrill to Ferdie Grofe and other stars of Paul Whiteman's Orchestras, whose glorious and carefree melodies make our own hearts young and young hearts glad.

You will be welcomed as a guest in the Music Room of any of the dealers listed below, where you may hear your favorite selections played for you as recorded by the world's greatest pianists.

March 22.—Negotiations for a security pact, on which the United States is depending to insure the safety of the western frontier, are being jeopardized by the attitude of the Nationalists, a group of Nationalists who are demanding that the Minister Stresemann remain in his position as Minister of the western frontier of Germany.

A monster demonstration was held in Berlin yesterday to demand that the Nationalists be replaced by the Allies.

Nothing can be done until the next session of the League council in June, but if the French government consents to take action, it is believed that notification of the matter will be placed on the agenda and be sent to the secretariat in Geneva without delay to permit the League to notify the State Department so a Washington representative can be present when the subject is discussed, either as an unofficial observer or to state the United States' case.

Hall is a member of the League and therefore contends the League has the right to interfere although no Haitian delegate has attended the assembly for the last two years on the ground that the government could not afford to participate by sending a representative.

RADIO TESTS IN ARCTIC PLANNED

Explorer Contemplates Low-Wave Development

Equipment Will Provide for Four Changes

Findings of Conference by Experts Program Factor

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

CHICAGO, March 22.—As a means of developing low wavelength efficiency in radio, Commander Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, today announced he would have his expedition into the Far North equipped with transmitters for short-wave channels when it departs this year. Decision to use a low wave length was reached following a conference of radio experts here in which it was decided that the best results could be obtained in short-meter work rather than over a long wavelength, particularly accounted for in light conditions.

The wavelength of forty meters will in all probability be used during the hours surrounding midnight, which will be daylight in the Arctic regions. Commander MacMillan explained, but will penetrate darkness in the lower degrees of latitude. Eighty meters will be provided as an emergency compromise wave length, fitted to cope with anticipated conditions and 150 wave length will be provided to prove that it will not function over the distances existing in daylight.

TWENTY-METER BAND

A twenty-meter band will be used during the period preceding and succeeding noon, when the expedition expects to be in Arctic daylight during the months of June, July, August and September, this especially after passing 60 degrees north latitude.

During the conference it was recalled that the first reports of the twenty-meter wave length being effective were reported January 24, last, in Associated Press dispatches, or "day preceding each other."

"The public is confused regarding short wave lengths," a statement issued following the conference says, "believing it is related to short distances. The direct contrary is true."

John L. Reinartz of South Manchester, Ct., described phenomena which he experiences while working on the moon and applying the frequency of light. He asserted that unusual good code work had been accomplished as low as ten meters.

NORMAL BROADCAST

The normal broadcasting wave lengths in America were given as from 500 to 600 meters, but all radio amateurs were urged to devote more time and experiments to the lower wave lengths.

"It developed in the conference," the statement added, "that the twenty-meter wave length at high noon was inaudible under 500 miles, but at greater distances and without difficulty it transmitted signals from the moon, probably at night with higher wave lengths."

It is to the amateurs of the United States that the fullest credit is due for the development of the short wave length and they are urged to keep up their work."

BREAD-LINE OF CATS IN NEW YORK CITY

There's a unique bread line in New York's City Hall Park, and among its habitues are such illustrious names as Caruso, Lillian Russell, Bob Fitzsimmons, Tom Sharkey, John L. Sullivan, Maggie Cline and others that blazon the pages of history.

But the names do not mean anything because the bearers of these exalted appellations are nothing but common, prowling members of the genus feline, species alley cat.

They are the result of a kind of rowling, splitting, clawing, Tom and Marias that congregate in the park every morning and every evening to await the coming of Lady Bountiful.

Because of this better load distribution there is much less tread distortion and tread movement—two factors which add to early tread wear in round-tread Balloon Tires.

Because of the greater road contact there is better traction.

There is also better non-skid protection because the flexible outer row of tread blocks is in full contact with the road.

Steering, too, is easier with the new Flat "Low-Pressure Tread."

Every day she comes, bringing milk, bread, bread, scraps of meat, chicken and other delicacies to tempt the feline palate.

Each cat gets his or her own little wooden platform in which is fixed a saucer of milk. When it is full, she leaves the saucer. Then, when the plate is licked clean, it is filled with milk and cream, usually with pieces of bread soaked in it.

The woman who feeds the cats is Mrs. Margaret Witte of No. 8 Church street, Maspeth, L. I. Her husband has been dead for some time, and she and her son manage the paper-bag manufacturing business he established, which is only a stone's throw from City Hall Park.

It was not alone the plight in which she first used to find the cats that originally inspired Mrs. Witte to adopt the humane practice she has followed so religiously for the past two years. Her sympathy for the thousands of birds that inhabit the park was at the bottom of it.

The cat formerly was part of the army that used to live in the old postoffice on the south side of the park; and keep it free of rats. As they grew old in the service, and became crippled through continual battling with enormous rodents that infested the old building, they lost their value and were evicted. Homeless, they roamed the park and preyed on the birds.

Mrs. Witte saw this and decided to put up stop to the cats coming up the steps to the day with her bag of food, and coaxed the non-descript mob of bob-tailed, notched-eared, half-blind grimalkins to come near her.

Besides the cats, Mrs. Witte feeds the birds in the park. She does this in another spot while the birds are at their meal, so that the birds do not interfere with the feeding of the cats.

Goldfish are put upon the market in three sizes, the more common varieties selling from $15 to $45 a thousand.

The Latest Balloon Tire Development— The New U. S. "Low-Pressure Tread" and How Its Flat Contour Prevents Early and Uneven Tread Wear

The First Tread Ever Designed to Properly Meet the Requirements of a Balloon Tire

Operating at the Low-Inflation necessary for Real Balloon Cushioning

IT IS the result of an exhaustive study by U. S. Tire engineers into the causes of early and uneven tread wear on Balloon Tires.

This study demonstrated very clearly that the round tread as used on most high pressure tires is impractical for Balloon Tires.

Due to the peculiar shape a round-tread Balloon Tire takes when under load and moving, and to the consequent working of those parts of the tread on which the weight is concentrated, the tread wears in two bands, one on each side of the center of the tire. (Note Tire A.) This makes the tread wear unevenly and quickly.

The new Flat "Low-Pressure Tread" cures all this. Due to its flat contour and the larger area of road contact, the weight carried per square inch of tread is greatly reduced.

Because of this better load distribution there is much less tread distortion and tread movement—two factors which add to early tread wear in round-tread Balloon Tires.

Because of the greater road contact there is better traction.

There is also better non-skid protection because the flexible outer row of tread blocks is in full contact with the road.

Steering, too, is easier with the new Flat "Low-Pressure Tread."

But above all, the new Flat "Low-Pressure Tread" permits running the tire on the low inflation necessary to give real Balloon Tire cushioning—without causing early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear. This is of great importance because a few pounds increase, even four or five pounds, in air pressure in a Balloon Tire will greatly affect its riding quality and comfort.

Why
U. S. Royal Balloon Cords present "The Balloon Tire principle at its Best"

Here is the tire that combines more exclusive points of superiority than any other tire you ever used or heard of:

Sprayed Rubber—pure rubber derived direct from the Latex without acids or smoke.

Latex-treated Web-Cord—the only cord construction in which the individual cords are webbed together with pure rubber Latex, without injurious chemicals.

Latex-treated Web-Cord is not only strong but extremely flexible. It permits the tire to flex freely without injury even at extremely low air pressures.

Flat Band Method of Building—insuring uniform position and tension of all the cords in the tire. Each cord does its full proportionate share of the work.

The New, Flat "Low-Pressure Tread"—adding 22 per cent more tractive surface on the road, doing away with uneven wear, and giving you many more miles out of your tire investment.

Specify U. S. Royal Balloon Cords—"The Balloon Tire principle at its Best."

BOTH of these tires have run approximately the same number of miles, under the same load, and with the same inflation.

Tire A has the old round tread. Look how it has worn down on each side.

Tire B has the new U. S. Flat "Low-Pressure Tread". Note the slight and even wear over the whole tread, although it has gone over a 1000 miles more than Tire A.

PRINCESS GETS DIVORCE

Fails to Prove, However, Husband Acted Improperly
With Former Mrs. John Spreckels, II

BY RAYMOND FREDRICK
(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

CONSTATINOPLE, March 22.—The Princess Chivakiar of Egypt who named the former Mrs. John Spreckels II, of San Francisco as correspondent in her suit for divorce from Capt. Selym Bey several months ago, was granted a divorce today and left for Paris immediately to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

The Princess, who is the former wife of King Fuad, failed to ed on the basis of a letter, which she wrote to the court, that her husband had been unfaithful to her. Capt. Selym gave his wife a year ago after she had learned of his relations with other women, in which he agreed to give her a divorce if she at any time in the future discovered he was having ques-tional relations with another woman.

For Capt. Selym to promenade with a strange woman in a lonely place after nightfall is not legitimate in the civil and religious law," the judge announced in giving the Princess a divorce.

The former Mrs. Spreckels started a damage suit against the Princess for striking her and taking her into a room as evidence when she arrived from the hotel on her return to Constantinople after the famous trip, but the case was adjourned.

Capt. Selym went to Cannes when his wife started suit for divorce where he has been living on board the Meteor, on which the latter decided to make war. The yacht is now called the Pharon.

OWENSMOUTH FARMERS FAVOR THEM AS BEST SORT FOR WINDBREAK

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE
OWENSMOUTH, March 22.—

In keeping with a civic program to preserve all the large trees now growing in San Fernando Valley and to plant many thousands more along the highways, a committee is putting out a long row of trees for a windbreak on the north side of his property on Santa Ana avenue.

The trees are atel, otherwise known as tamarix, which have been used with great success with in recent years in Imperial Valley.

The atel or tamarix is a native of the East Mediterranean region and parts of tropical Asia, and, like the pepper tree which half from Chile, and the myrtles which first was introduced from Australia, thrives well in Southern California soil and climate.

Several miles of the atel trees were set out last year on the Johnson and Vining ranch and are showing a most rapid growth.

They are excellent for shade and ornamentation and windbreaks. Tests have shown that the growing trees do not rob the soil and little or no adverse effect on other vegetation planted near by. New plantings may be easily started from cuttings.

Besides Carter, Perry Mulholland and property owners in the area, planters from various parts of the country, as well as from the United States, are planting tamarisks on their holdings, as dust and wind breaks.

OTHER FISH TO FRY
The owner of an estate on which there was a lake was annoyed to see a stranger fishing therein. He approached the trespasser and began to abuse him.

"This lake," he said. "Is privately owned and I stocked it myself. You must go away at once."

"Just a minute, sir," said the fisherman calmly. "What did you do with the lake with?"

"Trout," was the answer. "And I won't have."

"That's all right, sir," said the trespasser unconcernedly. "I'm fishing for pike."—[Mohoboth Sunday Herald]

RUSSIAN MUSIC FEATURES KHJ

Martin Music Company is Host for Program

Success of Station Laid to Co-operation

Russian Tenor Makes His Farewell Appearance

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE
If the success of KHJ as a broadcasting station would be traced to its causes, one of the most obvious would be found in the cohesion which exists between the station and its radio patrons. These firms or individuals whose generosity makes these splendid programs possible are suffused with the same devotion to good music as that which governs the station in all its activities. Consequently when they announce their intention of presenting a program, we are not compelled to discourse on the value of the highest type of entertainment, but their representative is instructed to secure the best talent available.

No one has been more faithful to the trust laid upon him by Radio-land than John D. Martin, president of the Martin Music Company, who again plays his role of host at KHJ last evening. Arranged by J. Howard Johnson, it presented a program featuring Russian music and love songs which wove their way throughout the evening like a "leit-motif" of a Wagnerian opera.

RUSSIAN QUARTET

The quartet with the Russian String Quartet, Lubowiski, Tita, Ruth Pitts, coloratura soprano; Eugen Petrovsky, tenor; Georgi Shuklitsky, bass; John Martin at the Gulbransen registering piano, and the orchestra.

The voice of Ruth Pitts is particularly adapted for the singing of the myriad love songs which form such a large part of American interpretation. Warm and full without being heavy in timbre, covering an extensive range and flexible to every vocal demand, her voice last evening more than held up to the usual expectation created by her frequent appearances at KHJ. The joy which she infused into her rendition of "Beloved Is My Love" will be long remembered by all those who listened to the potent power of love.

John D. Martin, who accompanied her at the Gulbransen registering piano, established the same atmosphere of rhythmic understanding and selection of ensemble with the singer which were the true stamp of all famous accompanists. Mr. Martin played as solo the lovely wistful "June" of Tchaikovsky and one of Moscow's most brilliant virtuosi, the effects which John Martin produced at the Gulbransen registering piano in the matter of rubato and subtle shading were uncanny.

FAREWELL APPEARANCE
It is with regret that we announce that last evening marked the farewell appearance of Eugene Petrovsky, Russian tenor, who is leaving for a concert tour through the East. During the time he has broadcast from KHJ, his excellent musicianship and extensive repertoire have been a source of keenest pleasure to Radioland, who doubtless join us in wishing him a successful tour and safe return.

The work of Calman Lubowiski, that dynamo of emotion and energy both as soloist and leader of his Russian string quartet and trio, was again a powerful magnet to keep the ears of Radioland tuned to KHJ throughout the entire evening.

The program also brought to an end the visit of Jeanne Hanan, who during her brief stay in the city, honored our station with two appearances. Last night she gave

Court Refuses Judgment for Punch Boards

Denying a petition to cause the purchaser of punch boards to pay for their use, Justice Blake yesterday entered a judgment supporting the custom in Justice court of refusing to legalize a debt involving any form of gambling.

In the suit decided yesterday by Justice Blake, the Superior Novelty Company sued L. H. Millard, a store owner of Lynwood, for the purchase price of six punch boards. It was shown in court, however, that the punch boards were of a type declared illegal by a county ordinance, and Blake, in summing up of the case, stated the court would not be a party to an illegal act and would not support an act of that sort by giving judgment.

Millard bought six punch boards from the novelty company. Several of them were later stolen from him in a series of burglaries and he turned to the court for redress. He was brought suit against him to cause him to pay for the boards he had purchased.

At noon today all traffic in the film capital will be halted for two minutes, when traffic officers, midwives, and other women of the city will hold aloft huge display signs carrying the message: "Hollywood Bowl, Buy a Bowl Session This Week."

Heidi Brown, noted concert pianist, will ride through the principal streets of Hollywood during the morning playing selections on a galloping. This feature will signal the opening of the drive.

FREE ADVICE ON CHICKENS IS OFFERED

"Times" to Give Pamphlet to Those Planning for Backyard Flock

Are you planning to raise some chickens in your back yard? You need not invest in expensive buildings. You don't have to buy feed—or at least not much. All you have to do is to follow a set of simple instructions, and gather the eggs. An interesting government chicken book, illustrated with photographs and diagrams, tells just how to do it.

DON'T DISCARD OLD SILK HOSE

They're Worth Five Cents a Pair even With Holes in Toes

Silk stockings at 5 cents a pair!

That is the offer that has come to the Women's Overseas Service League of Los Angeles. Not to buy hose at this price, but to sell them.

If the Los Angeles unit of the overseas women can gather together stockings of silk, of any color, size, or shade, they can dispose of them at the rate of 5 cents a pair, no matter how imperfect they may be.

Heel holes or leg runs, out at the toes or made useless by rents, lace tops or all-the-way sick, just as they are paired and clean, your cast-off silk hose will be gratefully received by the Overseas League.

Such donations may be sent to the Women's Overseas League at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Club, 221 South Main street. The money received from their disposal at 5 cents a pair will be well used.

THREE MEN JAILED AS ANNOYERS

Trio Are Arrested in War by Police on Flirting; One Held Before

Three men asserted to have been annoying women or children occupied cells in the City Jail yesterday as a result of a Saturday night round-up by the police.

Benjamin Crawford, 73 years of age, of 912 South Grand avenue, was taken into custody after he was asserted to have annoyed several young girls in the plunge at Bimini Bath. Officer Stevenson of Wilshire made the arrest after watching the man dive into the girls as they swam in the plunge, according to his report.

Clyde Williams and Buckley of Lynwood, and Charles Harry B. Bates, 31, of 129 West Avenue, Thirty-three, after he was asserted to have been guilty of lewd conduct in the presence of three girls, under 16 years of age. The police said he had been in similar trouble before.

Frank Berquist, 27, a carpenter of 803 East Fifth street, was arrested on complaint of the manager of the theater at 423 South Broadway. Berquist, according to the police, annoyed a woman who sat beside him in the show.

Silent remainder of day.

AMONG THE DEAD ONES

They are digging up dead towns in Africa. There are a number of dead ones in this country that have never been quite buried.

Skin Games

New Zealand is shipping rabbit skins at the rate of nearly 4,000,000 a month and the world wonders what varied forms they take when they get into the furriers' hands. Can a New Zealand bunny pinch hit for an American mole or an Alaskan seal?

TAKING THE JUMP

A Frenchman is putting out an automobile that can jump a six-foot ditch without any damage. Sounds like another Ford accessory. If they train 'em to hurdle ditches this will be a pitiful country for pedestrians.

THE ICONOCLASTS

The River Shannon is to be used to develop electric power for use in some of the industries and towns of Ireland. This should make some of the grand old bars turn over in their graves. The Shannon has inspired many a glowing bit of verse.

THE LAWMAKERS

More than 20,000 measures of various kinds are still pending before the legislatures of various States. Our passion for talking and urging legislation is much larger than our capacity for assimilating it. Most of this stuff will never be heard of again. For which much thanks.

THE PRISON CALL

What has become of the warm visionaries who said that our prisons would soon become obsolete and unnecessary? In almost every State the cry is going up for bigger ones and more of them. The world may be growing better, but it is having a hard time in proving it.

INCOLIN'S ADVICE

Abraham Lincoln once said in an address: "At what point is the approach of danger to be expected? I answer, if it ever reach us; it cannot come from abroad. It destruction be our lot we must ourselves be its author and finisher. As a nation of free men we must live through all time or die by suicide." Like individuals, nations find moral, mental and physical health within themselves or the unfortunate reverse.

RAILWAY FINANCES

One of the great railway systems of the country—the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul—which scoots across ten states or a dozen of our biggest States—has been placed in the hands of a receiver. This is another concrete demonstration of the fact that the railroads are not garnering plutocratic profits or plundering the public. Railway shares are now often found in the hands of small investors and are not the implements or playthings of billionaires. They are of, and for the people and deserve justice in the same ratio as the individual.

RADIO FIRST AID

Science is helpless to stay the destruction wrought by the cyclone and the tornado. Such forces are beyond the power of man to limit or control. But science has scored another victory in the speed and range of the radio in hurrying relief to the victims of these visitations. After the terrible disaster of last Wednesday had laid low so many homes, taken so many lives and left behind its trail of suffering and agony the radio was the first aid to the injured, the first to spread the need for relief and to call through the air the signal for rescue. In many sections of Illinois and Indiana the wires were down and the only means of communication with the outside world was furnished by the radio. In a horror of this suddenness the need for immediate relief is paramount and the radio bridged what in many cases would have been a fatal gap. Where science cannot prevent it can help to cure.

ICH DIEN

Our government has just announced it has booklets on housecleaning and on etiquette that may be had on application to the proper departments. Possibly this is in tune with the administration program of efficiency. When the Republicans returned to power there were a great many suggestions and recommendations looking toward a complete housecleaning in all the departments of the government. There was also much inquiry as to the proper manner and method of approach for the job-hunter, the lobbyist and the diplomat. It is possible that the information acquired in these channels has been compiled in pamphlet form and that these meaty brochures on cleaning house and on personal etiquette are the result. It would be a shame to let the information rust when it can be printed in the government shop and handed to those who need it at so little expense. The friendly attitude of the administration is shown in its efforts to tell the housewife how to shine up the rugs and carpets at the annual cleaning. The motto of the government is: Service.

WASTED EFFORT

There is a flux of mauldin sentiment in the appeal of Russell T. Scott, now awaiting execution on the gallows in Chicago. In his diary this condemned murderer, who once was a millionaire, lost his fortune and became a bandit, cries out against the gallows as a method of expiation for crime. Yet this objection never appealed to him until, by his own guilty act, he forfeited the right to live.

He raises the question of his death penalty's benefit to others who will succeed him when he writes:

Yet no lesson will go out from that scaffold which will benefit those, sick of mind and soul, who will come to take my place on this cot—to watch the shadows lengthen as they silhouette bars of steel on his cell floor.

True, perhaps; for they, too, will have then forfeited the right to life. But it may have a deterrent effect on those whose thoughts are first turned toward the path that he and the murderers who come after him shall have followed to the end of the trail.

A death-bed repentance has a certain appeal which goes to the heart. But this is not repentance. His death cry for life voices only forlorn entreaty. One sees the death stare of frightened lambs written on his features. He fears to face in eternity the victim he has slain. Futility is his protestation against the world's verdict in his revision of the words of the Bible, "What shall it profit a man to gain the world and lose his soul," into "What shall it profit the world if one man loses his life?"

Russell Scott may not think at this hour of his extremity that the death penalty is really a deterrent of crime; but it is. His own death cry, as uttered in his diary, is too despairing to miss the ear of those criminals who have his fate always before their mind's eye. The statement that most murders are committed in a lapse of mental consciousness, or, as he says, "at the spur of the moment, with no premeditation or thought of consequences," is not correct. Of course, he does not see the case as it appears to others; but the first essential of a jury, pronouncing the verdict and recommending the death penalty, is the conviction that the murder was premeditated; else it were no murder.

The condemned man maintains that "murder is clearly a case of temporary insanity in which the individual loses control of his faculties;" but the carrying of fatal weapons in the hand of the criminal at a time when he goes out to attack no one in particular, but intent on getting what he wants when he wants it, is no evidence of insanity; on the contrary, it is a very direct sign that his mind is working with full attention to detail. There is no exculpation in such arguments when brought out at the time of approaching death as an excuse.

"Two wrongs do not make a right" is the Scott's primary argument on which Russell Scott bases his right to continuation of life. The irrational basis on which he argues has been shown time and again. The statement lacks truth in its application. One wrong only makes up his case; that is his home.

Alessandri was in a position to make his own terms. He replied that he would assume the power of the exiled President Alessandri of Chile, who was deposed on September 5 by a group of hot-headed youths who proceeded to place the country under martial rule. Becoming dissatisfied with the way the army was managing affairs, the young revolutionists recently took the government out of its hands and came to Alessandri, who was in Europe, to come home and take charge again.

Alessandri was in a position to make his own terms. He replied that he would assume the power of the exiled President Alessandri of Chile, who was deposed on September 5 by a group of hot-headed youths who proceeded to place the country under martial rule. Becoming dissatisfied with the way the army was managing affairs, the young revolutionists recently took the government out of its hands and came to Alessandri, who was in Europe, to come home and take charge again.

The aim of Alessandri is plain enough. He desires to take away from the Chilean army the power to create and upset governments, and this can be done only by limiting its scope by constitutional provisions. The conditions of his return were accepted by the new Junta, and it is said that he has pledged himself to carry out such reforms as will remove the menace of the army to the government and establish a more permanent order of things.

The Chilean press rejoices in the fact that the military dictatorship is at an end. The Santiago Mercurio says that Alessandri comes back on the crest of a wave of unprecedented popularity. It says that Chile as a whole may now be considered liberal, but in no sense Bolshevik.

On being assured that his stipulations would be faithfully observed, President Alessandri said: "My only aim is to secure the happiness and welfare of the Chilean people and I stand ready to make any sacrifice, at whatever cost, to achieve this purpose." That Alessandri is a strong man is indicated not only by his surprising comeback, but by the fact that foreign investors have shown their trust in him and Chile bonds have not declined abroad.

Chile under the leadership of Alessandri, is now in a position to renew its close and friendly relations with the United States. It, as well as the other South American republics, has set an example of amicable intent and cordial good will that it would be well for the older nations to follow with soviets rule for China.

The Chilean press rejoices in the fact that the military dictatorship is at an end. The Santiago Mercurio says that Alessandri comes back on the crest of a wave of unprecedented popularity. It says that Chile as a whole may now be considered liberal, but in no sense Bolshevik.

There is, perhaps, a note of pathos in the lamentation which bewails the oblivion to which he is destined after "the echo of his feet shall have faded from the long corridor leading to the death chamber." Even if this is the cry of an excited egotism, it carries with it the admission of a life misspent.

Russell Scott's diary may arouse a mauldin sentiment among some readers; but it can only serve as a renewed justification of the death penalty for murder and, it is to be hoped, a warning to the growing number of criminals who are trailing down the crooked paths which finally lead to the gallows.

SAVED BY INDUSTRIES

In connection with the distress occasioned in the west of Ireland through the failure of crops the Dublin Statesman makes the constructive observation that "the huge sums of money raised in very bad years for charity, if they had been spent in a resolute attempt to create industries and educate workers, have prevented the necessity of appeals such as those now made."

The same publication declares that the terrible existence led by hundreds of thousands of people in urban and rural slums, in tenements and tents, is as wretched as that to be found in a Kafir kraal."

The distress, it is said, will occur again and again and can only be warded off by the creation of industries, which the government is called upon to supply. The fact is bemused that those who might help the situation go around rather than pass through where they would encounter "the ragged children and slatternly women" and are "overconcerned with mental problems" that have "defected thought from human circumstances which demanded more complete and immediate attention, though the Irish people are not naturally unkind."

The same situation was mastered in the north of Ireland years ago by Pat Gallagher, who established co-operative factories that have since made prosperous the lives of hundreds of families.

A NEW COLOR SCHEME

BY ELLANORE J. PARKER

The eyes of the thoughtful are dismayed by the new color scheme now appearing upon the world's horizon.

To the white lilies of France a black tiger is being introduced; its pungency is a note of alarm.

To the rich brown of Russia a yellow chrysanthemum is added; it is a little glaring in the sun.

All eyes are turning now to the fair colors of the rose, the thistle and the shamrock, to these may be added other sweet, fair flowers, and Anglo-Saxons are busy seeking for new blooms. The golden rod of America adds its glowing beauty to this fair bouquet.

Outside the garden fence another flower blooms. Its petals have been steeped in blood; it, too, has been tended by white hands; its future acceptance for the fragrant nosegay of many nations lies on the lap of the gods. The red stains can be grafted out by steady pruning; the rank, dank smell of blood can be purged away.

And the eye of the statesman sees in this outcast flower a friend instead of a foe. He sees that in the amalgamation of the Anglo-Saxons there lies the best hope of world salvation. For the day looms ahead when the struggle will become a race struggle and it is now time to be up and doing.

The fine, high idealism of the white man must be taught to his sons and daughters of today. Away with jazz and foolishness, for the great travail of the century is now upon the world. See the writing on the wall there for man to read, the color scheme of the new political world.

Far-seeing eyes are not color blind, but far-seeing eyes are often blind to immediate need and lack perspective.

In school and college let pride of race obliterate the lust for gold; let love of home in the son's mind strengthen, his daughter's virtue and beauty, his wealth and his achievement. Let woman, like Caesar, dying for her country, be up to the mark and not to the mark of the world. See the commonest of all weeds, the ragweed, for it is the source of the pestilence of the world. See the commonest of all weeds, the ragweed, for it is the source of the pestilence of the world.

FOSSIL IS THAT OF MAMMOTH

Bones Found in Inglewood of Pleistocene Age

May Have Roamed Along Coast 75,000 Years Ago

Was Twice Size of Present Day Elephant

The discovery of fossilized bones several days ago while workmen were excavating for a street in the northeastern part of Inglewood was pronounced yesterday by Prof. Chester Stock, head of the department of paleontology at the University of California, and one of the country's foremost authorities on prehistoric man and mammals, to be portions of a giant mammoth that ranged the slopes of southern California in the Pleistocene age, from 10,000 to 75,000 years ago.

The bones, which were discovered by Mexican workmen while plowing a section of Hill Street between Inglewood and Beach, at a depth of about three feet, were collected by H. E. Higby, a street inspector of Inglewood, and subsequently turned over to City Street Department engineer, Prof. W. D. Farmer, who intends to present the prehistoric remains to the Inglewood Union High School.

ENAMEL STILL ON TOOTH

According to Prof. Stock, who made a short investigation of the vicinity in which the bones were unearthed yesterday, further excavations may reveal other portions of the mammoth skeleton. Prof. Stock said that the bones were either part of the shoulder blade, the upper end of the arm, or part of the tibia. The large portion of tooth was easily recognized, much of the enamel in the layers being virtually intact.

The mammoth tooth, Prof. Stock explained, was made in layers, the enamel living between the sections. One piece of bone thought to have been a shark's tooth was also discovered by Prof. Stock as one of the sections of the mammoth tooth. Four of the large teeth are said to have ornamented the mouth of the prehistoric mammal.

It is probable that J. W. Lytle, assistant vertebrate paleontologist at the Exposition Park Museum of Natural History will investigate the vicinity next week when Ingleside workmen resume their work on the road. An accurate construction will necessitate further excavation into the ridge where the bones were found, it is thought that other portions might be found.

BONES IN DAY

The bones found in a sand and clay formation and Prof. Stock explained their presence so near the surface as due to the erosion which has occurred through the centuries.

"They were probably buried many years at one time," he said. "But erosion and other agencies swept away the surface.

At one time the sea covered that portion of Ingleside. A small, shallow, saltwater lake existed after the last ice age. Undoubtedly much of the country there was a bog.

The mammal to which these bones belonged, it was said, was evidently too large to have been carried by the ice. It was a massive head and about fifteen feet in length. It could be more easily estimated, it was said, as being twice the size of the largest mammoth tooth.

Prof. Stock is commuting between Los Angeles and Berkeley over the week-ends in order to continue research work connected with the discovery of prehistoric human bones a couple of years ago in this vicinity. He will return to San Francisco Monday.

FOSSIL FOOL

The bone discovery is not far from the Inglewood oil fields in the Baldwin Hills and about half a dozen miles from the La Brea, where important discoveries were made seven years ago. The find in Ingleside is believed to have none of the oil quantities that distinguished the La Brea find, although it is said that oil lies under all that territory.

According to Mr. Farmer, workmen reported to Mr. Higby that they had plowed through a large fossilized fish a few days before while working on water pipe installed in a hillside cut from which the mammal bones were found. This, however, was destroyed before any of the bones could be collected.

Prof. Stock is commuting between Los Angeles and Berkeley over the week-ends in order to continue research work connected with the discovery of prehistoric human bones a couple of years ago in this vicinity. He will return to San Francisco Monday.

NEVADA MINE BRINGS OUT RICH MILL ORE

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

BATTLE MOUNTAIN (Nev.) March 22.—The month-long strike of the miners of the Battle Mountain mine, which began on March 15, by General Manager Whittard, shows that forty-six feet of new underground development has been completed. The miners' demands were added to the dispute during the fifteen-day period. This makes estimated tonnage 6575 tons on dump and 13,000 tons uncollected.

The miners are to receive $15 to $20 per ton in gold and silver.

TOURISTS ARE DRAWN

Tourists are also being drawn to the beaches in the Bay district. Hundreds of them are making their first acquaintance with the Pacific and indulging in their first swim of the year.

THE GIRLS ARE DRAWN

The girls in the above group are charter members of the new club and are shown here drafting some rules of conduct for the approaching season.

RAIL HEAD SAYS TRADE IS GROWING

Canadian Says Dominion's Principal Need is People; Likes Southland

"More wonderful than I had pictured it" was the characterization of Southern California given by W. D. Robb, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, when he arrived yesterday for the first time in Los Angeles.

The Canadian National Railways is the largest railway system on the North American continent, operating more than 22,000 miles of lines, traversing every province in Canada. In an interview given at the Biltmore last night Mr. Robb said that he sees indications of an improvement of trade conditions in both Canada and the United States.

"Wholesalers in Canada have recorded more active purchasing for the spring trade and the general opinion is that retail buying will be more brisk during the coming spring and summer," he said.

Prof. Stock is commuting between Los Angeles and Berkeley over the week-ends in order to continue research work connected with the discovery of prehistoric human bones a couple of years ago in this vicinity. He will return to San Francisco Monday.
